A MONTH TO CELEBRATE BEER!

August 4th, 2017 marks the 10 year anniversary since the inception of International Beer Day (IBD). IBD started in 2007 in Santa Cruz, CA to rejoice in the greatness of beer. August is a month with no major traditional holidays, making it the perfect month to really focus on traditional aspects of brewing and gain an appreciation for beers brewed all over the world.

Beer is universal. Did you know, a 3900-year-old Sumerian poem honoring Ninkasi, the patron goddess of brewing, contains the oldest surviving beer recipe, describing the production of beer from barley via bread. It has also been found that in China, residue on pottery dating from between 5400 and 4900 years ago shows beer was brewed using barley and other grains.

So let's gather with friends and enjoy the deliciousness that is beer. Let's celebrate the dedicated men and women who brew and serve our beer. Raise your glass to celebrate the heroes behind each tasty brew. Cheers all, Hopy August!

It was the accepted practice in Babylon, 4,000 years ago, that for a month after the wedding, the bride's father would supply his son-in law with all the mead he could drink. Mead is a honey beer, and because their calendar was lunar based, this period was called the "honey month," or what we know today as the "honeymoon."
